PayPal and my website:

I now have PayPal buttons on my website and orders can be paid with credit cards through my website now without having to use Etsy. I still have my shop on Etsy and will continue to do so; however for those who don't care to use Etsy, now those customers will have another option for paying online.

Follow me: visit my blog and while you are there check the right sidebar to sign up to follow and scroll down to find all the many wonderful websites that I enjoy that I share with you all.

Highlights from June:

Shop Keeper News: My Etsy Shop was doing so well up until beginning of June, then zilch, nada, nothing! I blame Etsy for the experimental testing where they hide the shipping cost in some Etsy shops. Buyers can't see the shipping cost until they actually put an item in their cart! Many thousands of Etsy customers and shop owners are outraged over this experiment. Many shop owners are saying their sales are down, way down since this experiment began. Of course Etsy denies this fact; they lay blame on time of year and trends changing! Really Etsy?

New Equipment and Marketing Strategies: I received a gift from my daughter Bobbi of a digital droid tablet! The tablet will enable me to develop more up to date online pages and utilize the apps that go along with mobile devices.

PayPal is suppose to be releasing a card reader this Fall that will support Droid, so maybe then I will get their reader but for now I opened an account and got verified with Square, and received the card reader.

I can take mobile payments now!
